

We're taking a rest from writing this week, (week 5) to give everyone a break and allow others to catch up.

Instead of writing, take a sneak peek at these funder lists and some miscellaneous information on this resources page.

Don't worry if it seems confusing we'll be covering it in much more detail in a later lesson.

Resources

Finding animal grant makers lists online

www.sheltersource.org – has grant maker list and good information including grant materials

www.animalsheltering.org – another list with some overlap of the funders—listed under “show me the money”

www.unitedanimalrescuers.org/grants.htm -- grant writing help and list of funders

www.Foundationcenter.org – for searching annual 990 tax forms to see who they have funded, their assets and sometimes their general guidelines for submissions.

www.fundsnetservices.com – another list of animal grant makers, 40 at last count, again, you'll notice overlap.

Miscellaneous

www.petco.com – application for support online, fairly easy proposal, (in comparison with others). They seem to give smallish amounts to many groups of all sizes $500-1000. Look under “Petco Community” on the left side of the home page.

Name and address to obtain the Helen Brach annual report which includes their grant application. I believe the process is the same every year.

www.fundable.com (seems to generate funds for specific animals in need, not really a grant. Also www.chipin.com similar set up)

www.grantgopher.com has a free glossary of grant terms

www.stayexempt.org has information on maintaining 501c3 status
